College Station Lunch Fly-in at Gate 12

Second time is a charm, I guess. After the first try in January had to be re-scheduled for weather, it was looking like the second try was going to fall to the same fate. With low visibility and ceilings around Texas it was hit or miss if we could make it in time for lunch. I was feeling a little discouraged until I checked FlightAware and recognized some N numbers for SWBS were on their way.

All in All we had about 14 airplanes and close to 30 people that made the trek to my favorite place in Texas. (Hint hint Texas A&M)

We had great food at the Gate 12 Bar and Grill and plenty of good conversation with everyone there.
